GGSIPU/CDMS/2018/1775

Date: 27.03.2018

Subject: Request for nomination of candidates for Training programmes organised by CDMS, GGSIPU on Industrial Security, Safety and Disaster management reg.

Hon’ble Minister Shri Satendra Jain Ji,

Kindly refer to our discussion dated 21\textsuperscript{st} March 2018 on conduct of short term courses on Security, Fire Safety and Disaster Management in the Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University for decision makers and practitioners in the departments under your direct control, like Home, Health, Power, Industries, PWD, and Urban Development.

As you know Sir, India is one of the most disaster prone countries in the World and NCR of Delhi is vulnerable to multiple disasters – natural, man-made and technical. Sendai Framework on disaster risk reduction signed by 187 countries, including India, has shifted the emphasis from disaster management to disaster risk reduction and has identified education as one of the seven themes to reduce the risks.

While some significant progress has been made at international and national levels, the overwhelming majority of public and private investment continues not to consider disaster and climate risk, as the numerical value of disaster risk remains underrepresented in information used for decision-making at all levels – State, National and international. Its absence fuels the creation of new risk that is not systematically accounted for and contributes to the growing stock of unmanaged risks – which when realized, may provoke shocks of a truly systemic nature.

Delhi Govt has taken measures to reduce the disaster risks and it is in this context I would like to bring to your notice that Centre for Disaster Management Studies (CDMS), a school of Guru Gobind Singh Indraprastha University (GGSIPU) has been involved in training and spreading general awareness on disaster management, to help the Delhi Govt in its endeavour to make Delhi disaster resilient. CDMS is pioneer in starting MBA weekend course on Disaster Management since 2005. It is only of its kind course in India from which a number of Delhi Govt officials from Delhi Fire services, Delhi Jal Board, Health, Industries, Home, PWD, Power, Police, and other departments of NCT of Delhi Govt have benefited. We seek your kind indulgence in utilizing the Delhi State Govt facility by nominating officials from various departments as disaster risks are prevalent in each department and in fact in each walk of life.

CDMS has ventured to start two customized short term certificate courses, namely, “Industrial Security, Safety and Disaster Management” for 3 months (on Weekends) and 2 weeks (10 Days) course. These courses are scheduled to start from 14 April and 16 April 2018 respectively. It is reiterated that these courses would be beneficial to not only all departments under your command but in fact each and every department/office of Delhi Govt. It will be a giant step to make Delhi a Disaster Resilient State. The contents of the course have been specifically chosen after interacting with a number of international and national experts and reputed private sector units.

After successful completion of the course, the participants will be awarded certificate by the University, which will give them added advantage. The fees details are enclosed for your kind reference.

With profound regards,

Your’s Sincerely
