One day Seminar on

“Use of C & D Waste, Technical Textile and Fly Ash Products in Civil Construction”.

Venue: Hall no.5, Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi.

Date : Monday, 17th December, 2018 : 10 AM to 5.30 PM

As a rapidly progressing India builds its physical assets from habitats to highways to ports and power plants, the collection, segregation, recycling, treatment and disposal of construction and demolition (C & D) waste and fly-ash in an environmentally sound manner has become critically important. Linked to this challenge is the use of Technical Textiles for multiple uses ranging from dust-control to stabilization of slopes in municipal solid-waste dumps. The Government of India is actively putting in place a regulatory frame-work for the same which includes the notification of the Construction and Demolition Waste Management Rules, 2016.

The Central Public Works Department under the guidance of the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has been issuing guidelines, schedule of rates and circulars for various stakeholders effectively setting the standards for use of products made from C & D Waste, Technical Textiles and Flyash. CPWD has been using C & D Waste Products in several of its projects including the Additional Office Complex for the Supreme Court of India, New Delhi. It has also included C & D Waste Products items in the Delhi Schedule of Rates.

As part of its efforts in knowledge sharing and experiential learning in the field of C & D Waste, Technical Textiles and Flyash, CPWD is organizing a one-day seminar of practitioners, experts, government and industry representatives and academics on 17th December, 2018 at Vigyan Bhawan, New Delhi.

Who should attend :

Nominations are invited for paper presentation and for delegates from Central Govt. departments and PSUs, State PWDs and PSUs, private sector companies, academics, consultants and experts in the field of C & D Waste, Technical Textiles and Flyash.
